FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

RESEARCH AND REVIEW SERIES ESTABLISHED

CHARLESTON, IL--A gift to establish a publication series for research and review papers by Eastern Illinois University faculty members - both past and present - and by alumni has been received by the EIU Foundation, according to President Stanley Rives.

Chenault Kelly of Charleston, professor emeritus of English at Eastern, recently gave $10,000 to revive a fund for that purpose. "I believe," Dr. Kelly said, "that students can benefit from teachers who themselves have never stopped learning more about their subjects; therefore, I propose the Foundation establish a fund to enable Eastern to publish occasional papers of merit."

Eastern had previously published a "bulletin series" until the mid 1970's when it was abolished because of budgetary constraint.

"A university needs such a series," President Rives said, in accepting the donation and praising Dr. Kelly for her foresight. He will appoint an editorial board composed of five faculty and emeritus faculty members to administer the "Research and Review Series."
